The attached information is being provided to you in connection with the obligation of Goldman Sachs as a withholding agent to report specified tax information relating to certain equity derivatives transactions in which you have engaged. This information is being used by Goldman Sachs in part to determine the amount of U.S. tax that we are required to withhold and pay to the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) on your behalf, pursuant to Section 871(m) of the Internal Revenue Code. This withholding tax obligation and the related information reporting requirements came into effect on January 1, 2017. Please be aware that there are substantial uncertainties regarding the correct interpretation and application of these rules, and the IRS is not precluded from challenging the figures provided in this report, such as delta and dividend equivalent amounts. In the event that the IRS determines that additional tax is due on these transactions, Goldman Sachs is not liable for such additional taxes.
